

Although incredibly young, our 2020 Genevieve's Block Chardonnay is showing beautiful and intriguing qualities. We can always count on the Genevieve to have an extremely distinct nose. It's what makes it stand out in our portfolio and also in the realm of Chardonnay.

From the glass, you'll pick up aromas of warm vanilla pan dulce, honey butterscotch candy, quenching green papaya salad, and an air of marine saltiness hearkening back to its one-acre roots on the Sonoma Coast. The palate on the 2020 Genevieve is piercing, super precise, and angular like a coiled spring that will unravel gracefully as time goes on. This wine is tasty now with some decanting but it will enter a serious drinking curve in a few years and has another 10-15 years to dazzle and develop.
